CUIP AY 20-21: An Overview

Established in 1994, the Chancellor's Undergraduate Internship Program (CUIP) was established to "provide an opportunity to undergraduate students and the campus administration to cooperate for a common goal: the betterment of the whole while in the process enhancing mutual understanding and good will."

As the largest beneficiary of the UCSC Fund, the CUIP Program offers experiential learning for interns throughout university programs, departments, and colleges. With direct support from their mentors, CUIP interns conceive, develop, and execute a project applicable to their post. They earn either a $4000 or $8000 scholarship for the academic year, depending on the number of hours they contribute (225 hours or 450).

Despite the challenging 2020-21 academic year, the CUIP program involved students in thirty areas around campus, from the Genomics Institute Office of Diversity to the Division of Global Engagement to KZSC Radio, to Student Organization Advising and Resources (SOAR), and more.

CUIP: Looking Forward

Recommendation 1:

Collect demographic information on present and past cohorts to determine how well the CUIP program serves all students and drive intentional recruitment efforts.

Recommendation 2:

Re-examine the mission and vision of the CUIP program to ensure it reflects our institution's commitment to equity, inclusion, and social mobility,

Recommendation 3:

Assess where CUIP positions are currently located and identify gaps to guide growth opportunities

Recommendation 4:

Explore redesigning programmatic features to increase student impact and address college affordability gaps

Recommendation 5:

Establish a "Mentoring the Mentor" component to bridge the gap between the COWL 184 course and the internship
